Heat Wave Felt All Over the United States.

No Relief Promised for 48 Hours---New York and Chicago Suffer Worst.

WATER FAMINE IS THREATENED IN THE CITY OF BROOKLYN, N. Y.

TO LAST 48 HOURS LONGER

Washington, D. C., July 18.—The weather bureau issued the following bulletin today: "The indications point to continued heated temperature for the next 48 hours, and probably longer. There is a slight probability of local rains in lower lake region and in eastern New York but the cooling afforded by these will be only temporary. The temperature rose over night in the New England and Middle Atlantic states."

WATER FAMINE IN BROOKLYN

New York, July 18.—The torrid wave still holds New York in its burning grasp, adding scores to the dead and prostrated. Business is proceeding slowly on account of the heat. The supply of water in the Brooklyn reservoir is very low, and a famine feared.

Last night the sidewalks and nearby beaches were covered with sweltering humanity attempting to get a few hours' sleep.

No Relief Promised.

Washington, July 18.—The weather bureau announces that there is no prospect for several days' at least, of a let up in the extreme heat which has extended over the country for the past few days. The entire country from the Mississippi Valley eastward to Southern New England and Florida continues in the midst of a well marked heat spell. Maximum temperature yesterday was:

reached a culmination yesterday when a score of persons were prostrated. Five persons suffered seriously and were taken to hospitals. The thermometer registered 92.

St. Louis Can't Stand Much.

St. Louis, July 18.—A steady hot blast is sizzling in St. Louis and the government bureau can promise no relief. A number of prostrations from excessive heat have been taken care of.

Gotham Had Two Deaths.

New York, July 18.—The highest temperature marked by the government thermometer yesterday was 95, while on the street as high as 103 was reached. There were two deaths and nearly 50 prostrations.

Three More Die in Chicago.

Chicago, July 18.—The crest of the hot wave has passed over Chicago, and relief is promised tomorrow. Three deaths last night and today are added to the list of those who succumbed to the heat.

And Then the Ice Men Struck.

New York, July 18.—A number of driver's helpers employed by the American Ice Co., went on a strike last night and it is expected that the entire force of nearly 1,000 will decline to go out with wagons. They are paid $1.50 a day and claim that during the heated spell they are compelled to work from 2 a. m. until 8 or 9 p. m.

NOTHING HEARD

So the Presumption is That There Was a Lynching.

Little Rock, Ark., July 18.—A lynching is likely at Nashville, Howard county, Ark., according to a special received by the Gazette. Dave Jeanes, a negro, whom it is alleged attempted an assault upon Miss Willie Reeder daughter of a prominent family, has been captured by a posse of citizens at Spring Hill, eight miles from Nashville.

The sheriff has gone to the scene, but no word has been received of the whereabouts of the prisoner.

CHINA SENDS FOUR MISSIONS TO STUDY FOREIGN POLITICAL METHODS

Pekin, July 18.—An edict was issued yesterday ordering the dispatch abroad of four missions to study foreign political methods.

The missions will be headed respectively by Prince Tsaitche, who is of royal blood; Tai Hung Chie, second minister of finance; Shu Shie Chang, chief assistant to Yuan Shai Kai, viceroy of Chi Li province; and Touan Fang, governor of Huanan province.

The edict which was vaguely worded, orders the envoys to visit all countries in the east and west and study foreign methods generally. None of the men named speak any foreign language. The four missions will depart separately on dates yet undecided.

The idea is generally regarded as a step in the right direction though it may prove futile.

THE TENTH STREET STATION BURNED

Louisville Suffers From $350,000 Conflagration.

The Fine Union Depot at Tenth and Broadway Destroyed By Fire.

BLAZE STARTED FROM WIRE

Louisville, Ky., July 18.—The Union Passenger station at Tenth and Broadway, was destroyed by fire last night, entailing a loss of over $350,000.

The amount of insurance is not known. The fire was discovered about 9:30 o'clock on the top floor of the four-story stone structure and although every fire engine in the city except the reserves was on the scene in half an hour, the flames gained steadily and two hours after the start the building was eaten to a shell, only the walls being left standing. Fortunately the fire occurred at a time when few trains were scheduled to arrive or depart and only a small crowd of passengers was in the building. There was no panic and no casualties ensued. Defective insulation on electric wires is thought to have caused the fire.

The loss was confined to the passenger station proper, the Louisville and Nashville freight depot standing alongside being saved by the firemen. The train shed was saved and the terminals were not obstructed. The fire caused small interruption to traffic on the Louisville and Nashville, Pennsylvania and Monon railroads, the three companies using the union station. Trains were detained and passengers and baggage were handled at the union depot, Seventh and Water, and the Fourteenth street depot.

SIX BURN TO DEATH IN A HOTEL BLAZE

Gas Tank Explodes in Depot Hotel at Wabash, Minn.

Other Bodies Believed to Be in the Ruins—Woman Found Murdered at Patterson, N. J.

AN EXPRESS TRAIN WRECKED

Wabash, Minn., July 18.—The Depot Hotel was totally destroyed by fire early this morning.

Six persons were burned to death and there may be other bodies in the ruins. The explosion of an illuminating gas tank caused the fire.

Young Woman Found Murdered.

Patterson, N. J., July 18.—Della Conklin, was found with her skull crushed at the home of her mother in Conklinville, this morning. Her brains were scattered about the room. Her first husband has hounded her since her second marriage, and posses of citizens are looking for him.

Express Hits Freight Cars.

Rochester, N. Y., July 18.—The Western Express was wrecked near this city this morning and Engineer Clark was fatally scalded and died later. Fireman Closey was scalded and a colored man in the smoker was bruised.

No other passengers were hurt. The express ran into freight cars that were being switched across the track.

More Riots in New York.

New York, July 18.—Negroes precipitated a street conflict with the police early this morning in the San Juan district and before the rioters were subdued four men were wounded, two seriously. Twenty were arrested after more than two hundred shots had been fired. The trouble was an aftermath of the riots of Friday and Saturday.

I. C. FIREMAN

Killed a Negro Supposed to Be Insane.

Carbondale, Ill., July 18.—Frank Campbell, colored, was shot and instantly killed by David Goddard, white, a fireman for the Illinois Central railroad. The negro called Goddard out of his house and asked for food, which was given him. Without provocation, the negro drew a knife and cut Goddard badly about the arms. He afterward returned and sprang toward Goddard in the darkness, when the latter shot him. The men were unknown to each other, and the supposition is that the negro was insane.

BUTT-IN MAYOR.

Must Now Answer to Uncle Sam For His Capers at Newport.

Maysville, Ky., July 18.—A warrant was sworn out here yesterday before United States Judge Cochran, charging Mayor Helmbold, of Newport, Ky., with alleged contempt for interfering with the orders of a United States court in regard to placing Caleb Powers in jail at Newport last Monday. Helmbold objected to a separate cell being used by Powers, claiming it was unsafe.

GIRL DROWNED.

Frightened at Accident to Pilot House and Fell Under Wheel.

Valley View, Ky., July 18.—Nancy Ann Carpenter, aged 15, was drowned last night. She was with a party of excursionists when a guy rope from the boom knocked top off the pilot house. The girl was frightened and fell under the wheels of the boat.

AFTER TURKEY.

The Powers May Make a Joint Demonstration.

Berlin, July 18.—The Tageblatt says the powers threatened the Porte unless he agrees to proposals for international control of the finances of Macedonia. Joint naval demonstrations will be made at Salonika to compel Turkey to come to terms on this subject.

PEACE AT ANY PRICE NOT RUSSIA'S DESIRE

Plenipotentiary Witte Gives Out Authorized Interview.

Personally He Favors Peace But Fears Japan Will Make Peace Impossible.

THE FINAL DECISION RESTS WITH THE CZAR ALONE, SAYS RUSSIAN

TALK OF DE-POSING THE CZAR.

St. Petersburg, July 18.—It is reported that a large party of Seemstovists and Doumaists at Moscow are in favor of a proclamation of deposition against Emperor Nicholas, and the establishment of a regency for Grand Duke Nikolaievich, infant son of the Emperor.

St. Petersburg, July 18.—M. Witte, the senior Russian peace plenipotentiary, received the correspondent of the Associated Press at his villa on Velagin Island yesterday.

M. Witte spoke in French. After greetings, which were cordial, the conversation gravitated quickly to the high mission with which the Russian statesman is charged, and the disposition of the foreign press to interpret his appointment as an indication that Russia had decided to make peace at any price.

"No, no," said he, straightening up in his chair and speaking slowly and distinctly, as if weighing the value of each word.

"In the first place, I have been designated by the emperor as his ambassador extraordinary for our parlors with the Japanese plenipotentiaries to ascertain whether it is possible to conclude a treaty of peace. My personal views are of secondary importance, but my ideas are in entire accord with those of my friend, Count Lamsdorff.

"In serving my emperor I have received precise instructions from His Majesty and shall follow them.

"The ultimate decision remains in the hands of the emperor, and it is for him to decide the destinies of Russia. The emperor is the friend of peace and desires peace, but I very much fear that the Japanese terms will be such that we will be unable to reach an accord. Secondly, the world should disabuse its mind of the idea that Russia wants peace at any price. There are two parties in Russia. One favors the continuation of the war, a outrance. This is a large and influential party. The other, to which I belong, favors peace. I avow it frankly, because telling the truth has always been my rule in politics. I was for peace before hostilities broke out. When the war began the situation changed.

"Even though there are these two parties as to the advisability of ending the war in the present circumstances, both would be united if the Japanese demands wounded the amour propre of the Russian people or jeopardized our future as a nation.

"I am sure if I report that the conditions of Japan cannot be accepted, Russia will accept the verdict and the Russian people will be ready to continue the war for years if necessary.

"Thirdly, Russia is not crushed, as the foreign press has led the world

Senator Clark Recovering.

New York, July 18.—Senator Clark, who is recovering from an operation for an abscess, passed a comfortable night and the indications this morning were apparently very favorable. Dr. McKernon visited the patient at 6:45 a. m., remaining but half an hour.

SECRETARY WILSON MAY ORDER ANOTHER REPORT ON COTTON ACREAGE

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Secretary Wilson did not reach a conclusion yesterday in the matter of ordering another report on cotton acreage, but it is understood that he will decide today.

He is in favor of getting out a new report, and the interest which President Roosevelt is taking in the investigation of crop report leaks no doubt encourages him in authorizing the expenditure, but the secretary feels cramped for funds at present and he is trying to figure where the necessary money may be obtained without weakening some of the projects for which it was to be used.

In the absence of District Attorney Beach, who has gone to New York to personally examine some of the cotton brokers who are suspected of having used Holmes' advance information, the cotton investigation here is moving along quietly. It has been reported that the president is becoming dissatisfied with the progress that is making in the investigation and that he wishes the keep commission, which has just finished a star chamber inquiry at the government printing office, to go to work on the agricultural department.

But on the authority of one who has been assisting investigation this is not correct. While the machinery of justice is in operation President Roosevelt is content to let it have right of way.

The comptroller of the currency has issued his certificate authorizing the American National bank of Minneapolis, Tenn., to begin business with $50,000 capital. J. B. Biles is president; J. J. Meadows, vice president; and C. J. Potter, cashier.

Vincennes 11, Hopkinsville 5.

Cairo, Ill., July 18.—The Indians took the second game from the Mud Wallowers at Sportsman's park yesterday afternoon, but the game was in a measure handed to the visitors by rotten team work and dull, dumb work on the parts of individual players.

South was in the box for the Indians up until the seventh inning, when he became ill and Frakes was substituted. The Mud Wallowers were unable to do anything with either pitcher, getting but three measly bingles, while the Indians hit like fiends and played another star game of fielding and team work.

Paducah scored in the seventh inning, making all four runs in one inning. Cairo scored her solitary run in the fifth inning.

Blackburn walked and when trying to steal second South threw the ball over Gilligan's head and Blackburn went to third. Hughes hit to center but was caught out, Blackburn scoring on the throw. This ends the tale for Cairo.

It was a mixup for the Indians when they got their tallies. Perry singled and Potts bunted, Roland fumbling and Potts making safe. Lloyd sacrificed and advanced both runners. Land singled and scored both runners. South hit to right and made first, the ball being slowly fielded and Land making third sack. South went to second on the throw to third and Collins tried to catch him. He failed and Roland drove the ball home to head off Land. Harvey dropped the ball and Land made safe. McClain flew out and Gilligan knocked a popup behind first base. Roland, Marre and Hughes all made for it but each thought the other was going to field it and let it drop. South scoring. Bonannon fanned and retired the side.

Nine Hits Off Bonno.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 18.—The Kolbites struck a batting streak and Simpson, who has proven to be a stumbling block to many teams, was batted all over the field yesterday, the Hoosiers taking the game by a score of 11 to 5. The locals did not hit so badly and recorded nine bingles on "Count" Bonno.

Henderson, Ky., July 18.—The Hens scratched dust into the Raylets' eyes yesterday and won by a score of 8 to 7. Princeton had the better part of the argument in hitting, but the hits were kept scattered while the Hens bunched and won out. Princeton's errors also contributed to the winning.

The Boonville, Ill., Enquirer says: "Percy Wilder, an ex-Kitty league pitcher, formerly with Cairo, was pounded to the four corners of the woods today by the local team, who were playing Mt. Vernon, Ill. Nine hits were made off Wilder, five of them being two-baggers."

Vitter, the big first baseman, has jumped and gone to Aberdeen, Miss. Manager McCarthy tried to get him to stay but he refused, saying that he did not want to get down so far that his release would be given him. Vitter was a first class fellow and had many friends here who will be sorry to hear that he has gone.—Cairo Bulletin.

THEY JUST LAUGH

AT THE RANK IGNORANCE IN PASSING AUTO ORDINANCE.

With the Plug Out, No Automobile Can Run, Say Members of the Club.

The Automobile club will meet this evening to consider a number of things, among them being a big run to be made by the club next Sunday. Members of the club are more amused than anything else at the ordinance passed last night by the council relative to automobiles. It clearly shows that some of the councilmen know very little about automobiles.

For instance, the ordinance as it now stands will require an automobile owner never to leave his machine unless someone is in charge of it, while horses are left standing anywhere without anyone in charge.

"It's simply ridiculous," declared one enthusiast today, "What the ordinance ought to say, is simply that an automobile must not be left alone unless it is 'dead.' This is easily understood by anyone who knows anything of autos. When a man leaves his machine, he removes a plug from it and puts it in his pocket and no one on earth can start that machine until the plug is put back. The auto is vastly safer left alone than a horse would be, because there is no possible way it can move until the plug is replaced. Yet the council seems to think that the machine can not be left without someone in charge of it because it might run away. Why, in New York City you can go along Broadway and find five hundred automobiles at anytime against the curbing, most of them with no one in charge.

"The Automobile club wants only what is right. We don't believe it would be right or necessary to exact such a foolish thing as never leaving our machines except with someone in charge of them."

At one time he was employed on the Cairo Telegram, and his most recent work was on the St. Louis Star. He will likely leave Paducah tonight.

Paducah Known Everywhere.

It is said that there are people in the state of Kentucky who never heard of Paducah. This may be true, but twelve months of such advertising as the Commercial club has been doing will make us known to all parts of the globe. If we properly advertise our town it will increase our population and manufacturing interest more than double in the next ten years. Fail to advertise and you will drop out of the Great Game.

Chicago Excursion.

The annual excursion to Chicago via the Illinois Central railroad will be run August 22, 1905, by special train, leaving here at 9 a. m., via Cairo, fare for the round trip $5. Tickets will be good returning until August 30. No extensions will be granted.

LABOR DAY.

Celebration Will Be Held at Wallace Park Again This Year.

The Labor day committee has arranged to hold the Labor day celebration at Wallace park again this year, and an effort will be made to have Gov. Beckham here for that day, as he will be in Paducah three different times during the encampment. The encampment ends September 2, however, which is before Labor day, and it is probable the governor will be unable to remain over.

A gold medal, it is announced, will be presented to the best drilled soldier in camp, by the labor unions.

Mayor Yeiser will be asked by the executive committee of the Central Labor union to attend the Labor day festivities and allow the fire and police and other municipal authorities, to participate in the parade.

"UMPS" IS GONE

ECKSTONE COULD NOT STAND THE PRESSURE.

Fans Were Sore at Cairo and He "Yumped His Yob."

Umpire S. S. Eckstone has left Cairo, surrendering his berth in the umpire staff of the Kitty league, and his whereabouts are unknown. Cairo papers say Eckstone was afraid he would be dealt with forcibly by Cairo fans who were indignant over a decision he made Sunday which the Cairo fans allege gave Paducah the game.

The Bulletin says his name is not Eckstone, but Eckstein and does everything but pay him a compliment. When Eckstone left the ball park Sunday and boarded a car there were one or two demonstrations on the part of the thug element to force him to fight, but they were unsuccessful in their attempts. However, when Eckstone left the cars several thugs followed him and threw sticks, stones and even went so far as to strike and kick him.

Gordon, a Cairo man, was secured to umpire yesterday's game and will fill the place until another umpire is appointed.

Eckstone is from Greenville, Miss., and made his debut in baseball with the Greenville team in the Cotton States league. He was signed by Cairo but released. He next went with Princeton and then was appointed an umpire.

Daily Thought.

"A second is longer than you think it is, and quite a number of things can be done in a minute, if you keep moving."

MILITIA ENCAMPMENTS.

This is the season of militia encampments in most of the states. The encampments are good for the militiamen, says the Chicago Tribune. A majority of them are from the towns and cities, and they need the outdoor air and vigorous exercise they get while "soldiering." The diet is not exactly what they are used to or would take if they had a comprehensive bill of fare to choose from, but it is nourishing and healthy. Most militiamen return from the annual "camp" brown and strong. Their outfitting equips them well for their year's work as civilians.

The encampments, however, are primarily for the good of the public. Our English ancestors, fearful that standing armies would be employed by the king to destroy their liberties, conceived, long ago, an inveterate dislike of them. There is no king in America, but the people have always been as much opposed to a large standing army as if there were. The federal constitution says "A well regulated militia" is "necessary to the security of a free state." A militia cannot be "well regulated" whose members do not have occasional experience of actual war or mimic war made as near like it as possible. Frequent drills in armories are helpful and indispensable, but the best place to make soldiers is in tents, about camp fires, and in open fields. A main trouble with the militia outfits is that they are too short. But a week's camping each year is about all that can be had.

Previous to the Spanish war the militia organizations in many states, from inadequate legislative support and lack of public interest, had shamefully dwindled and deteriorated. The war showed with painful clearness dangers of the policy of inactivity and neglect, and legislation by congress and revived popular interest have since put the militia generally on an improved footing. But in most states it is far from what it ought to be. Nobody can foretell when or where a disciplined and courageous body of militia must be the state's chief reliance in putting down serious riots and insurrections. The navy would be the nation's right arm, but the militia would have to be its left arm in case it were plunged unexpectedly into a great war. The people should not neglect the militia.

The alleged fraudulent concern that has recently brought a number of good citizens of Paducah into unpleasant notoriety will be fully investigated, and, in a way not to show fear or favor. This much is assured, and this much is desired. The guilty should be exposed and punished, and the innocent exonerated, and from indications this is just what is going to be done.

We have carefully investigated the work being done by the Commercial club and unhesitatingly endorse it. Every man in Paducah should become an active member of this association, and assist in the work they are doing. Help the club and you help your town. Help the town and you help yourself. Join the Commercial club.

If you are not a member of the Commercial club you ought to be. Every man in town is interested in the work the club is doing. Every man in the city is being benefited by this work—are you willing that your neighbor should do the work and you share the benefits without sharing the responsibilities. It is hardly a fair way to do, is it?

The council's effort to relieve the public from the ice wagon nuisance was very prompt, and last night an ordinance was ordered to prevent the ringing of the gong in certain places and at certain times. It is now well along into summer, but there is time yet for such a measure to be of vast benefit.

A news telegram says that the money contributed to the Caleb Powers' fund has reached $87,000. The people who realize what Powers has suffered have been very generous in aiding him, but it is likely the $87,000 story is fiction pure and simple.

The Commercial club is doing great good for Paducah. More advertising matter has been sent out lately than ever before. The results are seen in inquiries about locations and business in every mail.

ANOTHER FREEZE-OUT.

Postoffice at Epperson, Ky., discontinued Next Month.

Notice from Washington was today received here that the postoffice at Epperson, Ky., five miles from Paducah on the Benton road, will be discontinued August 15th. The reason is that Rural Route No. 4 now well covers that territory, and there is no necessity for maintaining the office longer.

In the course of time most of the small postoffices will be discontinued where rural delivery covers the territory. Mr. J. W. Troutman, the postmaster at Epperson, has been keeping a grocery in Paducah for some little time, leaving the office in charge of a deputy, the business was so light.

INVITED TO PANAMA.

I. C. Storekeeper Offered a Lucrative Position There.

Mr. A. J. Hollenbeck, who resigned with the I. C. here as storekeeper and has accepted a position as storekeeper at Louisville for the L. and N. road, yesterday afternoon received a telegram offering him a position in the Panama canal service as storekeeper with a salary of $2,500 a year with his home furnished free.

Mr. Hollenbeck is considering the offer, which holds for some time if he cares to consider it. The only drawback to the position, Mr. Hollenbeck thinks, is the climate. He is afraid of the fever, but will not decide what to do for several days.

EDITOR OF MOON DIES IN POOR HOUSE

Bill Watkins a Victim of Consumption in Graves County.

Was a Unique Character and Edited the Moon For Several Years at Different Places.

LIVED IN PADUCAH MANY YEARS

Bill Watkins, one of the best known characters in Southwest Kentucky, and a man with many friends in Paducah, is dead.

Yesterday's Mayfield Messenger thus tells of his demise:

"Bill Watkins, who for several years has been the editor and publisher of the 'Moon,' died Saturday afternoon at the county poor farm near the city. He had been ill for some time at the home of his brother Thomas Watkins, ten miles north of the city on the Metropolis road, and was brought here Saturday afternoon and sent to the poor house and died in one hour and twenty minutes after being sent there. He leaves a brother Jake Watkins living north of the city and two half brothers, Josh and Bird Watkins in Indian Territory.

"Bill Watkins was a very unique character and writer, and was known to most every newspaper man in the various states. He had a mania for traveling over the country. He was an all-round printer and an expert machinist, and had been employed on some of the largest newspapers in the country.

"He was about 40 years old and contracted consumption from exposure last winter.

"For the past year or more he had been employed on the Gospel News, published by Eld. J. M. Perkins, near the city. For many years he was employed on the old Paducah Standard and while there he began the publication of the 'Moon,' which made him known as a unique and comical character in all West Kentucky.

"He was buried a short time after he died at the county poor farm. He was brought to the city during the day when the sun was at its hottest and thereby hastened his death, it is thought."

POLICE COURT

MAYOR OF DOGTOWN WAS ONE OF THE MAIN OFFENDERS TODAY.

Attempted to Force a Dusky Acquaintance to Stop Talking—Other Cases.

"Bill" South, white, "mayor of Dogtown," and Arthur Gregory, colored, were fined $10 and costs each in police court this morning for engaging in a fight at the New Richmond hotel last Saturday night.

South had too much whiskey, Gregory claims, and commanded him to shut up talking. The negro refused and South started after him.

South claims that he had stopped to await the coming of his wife and that Gregory was talking loud and interfering with some street preachers who were holding services nearby. He told the darkey not to talk so loud and it ended in a fight.

Judge Sanders heard the evidence yesterday, but left the case open until this morning in order to hear one or two more witnesses.

Martin and E. B. Buttrey, white, were arraigned on the charge of refusing to pay their car fare. The case was continued.

Other cases were: Unknown white man, drunk, $1 and costs; Enoch Brown, white, harboring a vicious dog, left open; Wm. Chambers, colored, breach of the peace, $10 and costs.

The case against Will Diggs and Will Kirk, colored, who are charged with selling beer on a street car during a trolley ride given by colored people, will not be finished until Monday on account of the prosecution desiring to learn whether or not the beverage is intoxicating.

Prosecuting Attorney Tom Harrison will have the liquid analyzed and it will take that long to make the analysis. He will not attempt to show that the beverage is pale ale or beer, but will see if it is intoxicating.

LEE LINE BOATS MAY SOON HAVE TO STOP

The Ohio River is Getting Too Low for Them.

The Rees and Peters Lee Have Been Running in the Trade Since Last Fall.

THEY WILL NOW BE REPAIRED.

The big Cincinnati and Memphis excursion boats, Peters and Rees Lee will probably make few more trips in this trade on account of low water. One of the boats passed up Sunday, and the Rees Lee passed down today.

The boats have been running much longer this summer than usual, but it becomes more and more obvious every day that the Ohio will soon be very low. Hence the management of the Lee Line is making arrangements to abandon the Cincinnati trade until fall. The company has been running the Peters Lee and Rees Lee to Cincinnati since last fall, but the water is getting so low that it is not believed that the boats can make many more trips this summer. The company has been figuring on abandoning the trade August 1, but it is possible that the schedule may be discontinued sooner. The waters of the Ohio run down very fast and become very treacherous at this season of the year to boats the size of those in use by the Lee Line. The Peters Lee and Rees Lee alternate out of Memphis every Friday. The Peters Lee went out last Friday, and this will perhaps be her last trip this summer. Certainly she will not go up more than once more.

Assistant General Manager Peters Lee stated yesterday that he expected the bottom to drop out of the Ohio river at any time and force the company to abandon the Cincinnati packets, says the Memphis Commercial-Appeal. He stated that when the Peters Lee and Rees Lee were taken out of the Cincinnati trade they would be put on the ways. So far as known the boats do not need repairs, but it is a custom of the company to have its boats pulled out every year and given an inspection and overhauling. In the event that the trade to Cincinnati is abandoned one of the packets will be added to the St. Louis trade, giving three boats a week instead of two to that point, and giving a schedule Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The Georgia Lee, which is now at the bank, will soon be put into the Cairo trade, and one of the larger boats will take the place of the little Sadie Lee, which is now the packet to Ashport. As the trade picks up this fall the Lee Line will put its largest boats in the heaviest business.

NOT SO WARM.

Yesterday the Highest Temperature Was 98.

The weather man was a little considerate yesterday and did not push the mercury up so high as he shoved it Sunday. Sunday 102 was registered for the maximum and yesterday the highest was 98, four degrees cooler. Although Monday was not so hot as Sunday the residents complained of the heat almost as much and thought the temperature would go even higher. The lowest yesterday morning was 74.

New Depot at Viola.

A new depot is to be built at Viola, Graves county. The citizens have subscribed $50, the amount asked by the railroad company. A switch will be placed there, making Viola a regular station. Viola is fast growing and is one of the best little stations along the road in Graves county.

—YOU HAD AS WELL GET OFF THE EARTH as to live in a town whose citizens take no interest in public affairs. No man with a very high appreciation of the fitness of things will let his neighbor continually carry his burden. You fellows in the brush must come out and take up your share of the burden of work in the interest of the public, help advertise the town, carry your part of the load, do your duty and it will make the load light for all and you will feel better.

It is dead easy to find trouble and to make excuses.

THAT PRIMARY.

May Be Held, Although No Candidates Have Shown Up.

The Democratic city committee is holding on to the forlorn hope of having a city primary August 21, although there is not as yet a single candidate for any of the offices, with one or two exceptions.

The committee held a meeting last night at the city hall, and it was expected by some that the primary would be called off. It was decided instead to hold another meeting tonight and decide on the amounts to be charged as entrance fees to enter the various races.

It was decided that all candidates must send in their names with the respective amount due as entrance fee, by August 1, and a sub-committee composed of the following was named to prepare for the primary:

Chairman W. A. Berry, Secretary Johnston Bass, T. B. Harrison, Mann W. Clark and George Bondurant.

BOARD OF WORKS

May Not Hold Its Regular Meeting Tomorrow.

There will probably be no meeting of the board of public works tomorrow afternoon on account of the absence of Secretary Saunders A. Fowler, who is in Frankfort.

There is a little routine business and the signing of the contracts for street work. The board will probably not meet again until the next regular meeting time unless something important comes up needing immediate action.

Complimentary of Miss Willett.

The last issue of The Record, one of the leading Catholic papers, published at Louisville, Kentucky, has the following complimentary editorial mention of the very able and scholarly address, recently delivered by Miss Henrietta E. Willett of this city, before the first alumnae gathering of Mount St. Joseph's Academy in this state:

"Were it within our province and power, we should crown the address delivered before the Alumnae Association of Mt. St. Joseph's Academy in Daviess county, and printed in the last week's number of The Record with the laurel wreath. 'Alumnae in the Walks of Life,' was certainly the most finished and scholarly paper read in our diocese in many years."

The superior merit of her clever paper by the talented and accomplished young woman, elicited favorable and extended notice from several leading Kentucky papers at the time and prominent mention was made of it in The Sun about the time of its first publication in the Owensboro papers, in the columns of which it received deservedly extended and praiseworthy notice.

CRITICALLY ILL.

James W. Alexander, Former President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

New York, July 18.—James W. Alexander, former president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, is in a critical condition at Unkwan Sanitarium, within three miles of the Oaks, the summer residence of James H. Hyde. Attended by nurses and his own physician, the patient is rarely conscious of his surroundings and requires constant attention. The precise nature of Mr. Alexander's illness is more or less conjectural, but it has become known that he originally suffered from kidney affection, had had a slight apoplectic stroke and later exhibited symptoms of nervous prostration.

Secrecy of an extraordinary nature has been observed by the immediate family of Mr. Alexander. So strict has been the observance of this secrecy that even James H. Hyde was unaware of the close proximity of his former associate and chief.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

Next month will be a lively one for Paducah—the boys in blue and brass will be here. Those who remember the stirring times in 1894 when the state encampment was held in Paducah look forward to the coming outing with pleasurable anticipation. Guard mount early in the morning, the drills, sorties, rifle practice, sham battles, with dress parade in the evening and the sunset gun—who does not remember them?

Then there were the dances, excursions, the quiet moonlight nights under the trees, and countless other pleasant memories that will be revived when the soldiers come to town.

Paducah is a splendid place for the encampment. Paducah always makes a pleasant impression, too, and some of our best young citizens first saw the Pride of the Purchase eleven years ago when they came here to go into camp. A few liked it so well they "just stayed," while others couldn't remain away long and soon came back.

Many romances grew out of the visit of the gallant soldier boys, and who can say the coming encampment will not leave behind its romances?

An old darkey in a rickety wagon drawn by a bony horse passed a certain prominent farmer's house Sunday. The darkey was on his way home with a lot of blackberries that had been gathered in the woods during the day.

The horse couldn't hardly stand, much less pull the wagon, and the compassion of the farmer was excited.

"Here, uncle, wait a minute," he said.

"Whuffer, boss?" asked the old darkey. "Dis here animal kaint git erlong much, en I jest haffer git home to dark."

"I see he can't," rejoined the other. "You git out of that wagon and unhitch that horse. You ought to be ashamed to try to drive a horse in that fix."

"B-b-but I see gottier git home, I sho has," remonstrated the darkey.

The farmer was very much in earnest, however. He made the darkey unhitch the horse, and took it to his own stable and gave it a square meal and kept it all night. The old darkey went off pulling his delapidated wagon, muttering to himself about a man not being allowed to drive his own "animule," but he came back after the horse the next day and promised to treat it better in the future.

The farmer's conscience didn't hurt him a bit, but he is pretty certain the old darkey will drive his debilitated horse by some other route the next time he goes blackberrying.

"Do you know," declared a well known doctor the other day, "that with all the accomplishments of science, no one has ever yet fully explained what becomes of the blood in a person's body after death? I mentioned this to a number of doctors recently, and it seemed to strike most of them as something they had never heard of before. It's a fact, however, no one knows what becomes of the blood after death. Some may think it coagulates in the veins and arteries and organs after circulation ceases, but it does not. There is practically none left in any of these. I was talking to an undertaker about it not long ago. Undertakers embalm bodies by forcing a preservative fluid into the arteries. The undertaker said he knew there was little or no blood in the arteries, but he had always supposed it was in the veins. He was surprised to learn that it wasn't anywhere. When a corpse is dissected in the colleges they take it from the vat, melt wax, and force it into the arteries and veins. Red wax is forced into the arteries, and as it enters and permeates the body you can see it as it comes along from one artery to the other. Then blue wax is forced into the veins, and the student is thus able to learn in the course of time just where every vein and artery in the body is located as they are all filled with blue and red wax. But both veins and arteries are always found empty in a corpse. The organs are also found to be practically devoid of blood, so, where does it go? My own theory is that it is absorbed by the tissues and capillaries, but this is only a theory. You ask any number of people, though, and you'll find that few of them know that the blood in a person's body disappears after death, and no one knows what becomes of it."

The Hogwallow Kentuckian is the name of Graves county's latest effort in the journalistic line. "Duke Botts" is the editor, and those who have read the droll witticism of this rural humorist in the Mayfield Mirror in past years will be delighted to learn that he has permanently entered Southwest Kentucky literature. Mr. George Bingham is the real name of the editor of the Hogwallow Kentuckian, and he is certain to make many friends.

Here are a few samples of what is to be found in the paper:

Brother Enick Oliver preached a sermon at the Hog Ford church last Sunday that fairly raised the roof. He also raised eighty cents.

Sim Flinders, who assisted the neighbors to bury his second wife a couple of months ago has bought a new pair of britches and some new galluses, and says if sufficiently urged and properly approached he will get married again.

Last week while Bud Henstep was trying to swap his shotgun, it went off and killed a fellow by the name of Pete somebody, who lives somewhere near Tickville. No ill feeling exists between the families, as Bud didn't know the gun was loaded.

Bill Wildew, who has been peddling a new-fangled calf muzzle in this community for several days, went to our horse lot Sunday while we were over at Bat Smith's moonshine still getting a hair cut, and crept away with our yoke of steers.

He was captured while eating blackberries on the road near Dog Hill with the stolen articles in his possession. His trial took place on the front porch at the postoffice the next day and was fined fifty cents and two gallons of licker. He couldn't take up the cash part of the sentence and was locked in the constable's stable.

Dudley Flinders, Sam's brother, has a curiosity walking around in his back yard. It is a wooden-legged rooster. Dud's rooster got his leg sawed off by trying to light on a sawmill on Gander creek. Instead of having the rooster for dinner Dud has whittled him out a nice hickory leg, and will save him till the Hog Ford preacher comes to take dinner. The rooster is so proud of his new style leg that he won't run with the common two-legged chickens.

Detective T. J. Moofe, after a search of more than five days for a bicycle thief found his man yesterday, safely locked up in the county jail, serving out a 30-day term for petty larceny. The circumstances attending the case are very peculiar and will show the work a detective has to go through in some of the most minor cases.

Several weeks ago Walter Sullivan lost his bicycle from the front of the Palmer house and more than a week ago the wheel was found by Detective Moore on the Pittsburg Coal combine floating dock at the foot of Washington street. Watchman Henry Randle, colored, claimed he bought it from a small yellow negro named Dennis, who had worked about the office on Broadway several days. The manager of the combine office could furnish the detective no more information than that the negro's name was Dennis.

Detective Moore spent several days searching in barber shops and offices where the negro might be found and found a negro who seemed to know the boy.

"Why, I have lost track of him since you fellows locked him up several weeks ago for petty larceny," the negro declared.

It all came to the detective in a flash. The boy was Dennis Reed, a small mulatto who was given a sentence for stealing a grip from a farmer's buggy near the city scales, the grip containing female wearing apparel.

The detective went to the jail and after a thorough "sweating" made the negro admit that he had stolen and sold the wheel. A warrant will today be issued for petty larceny and the boy given another jail sentence to serve.

Detective Moore accounts for failing to locate the boy by the fact that when the prisoner was arrested he did not see him or know anything about the case. Detective Will Baker having made the arrest.

Detective Baker had been out of town the principal part of the past five days, and Detective Moore did not have an opportunity to see him and the whereabouts of the boy was a mystery until yesterday.

The Dick Fowler left at 8 a. m. for Cairo with a good trip.

The Charleston after being repaired and repainted here, leaves this evening at 5 o'clock for the Tennessee river.

The Rees Lee is due down today from Cincinnati for Memphis.

The steamer Clyde arrived last night loaded to the guards with lumber to be unloaded at Joppa and Metropolis. She returns tomorrow at 5 p. m. for the Tennessee river.

The John S. Hopkins left at 10 o'clock this morning for Evansville.

The Reuben Dunbar was in from Nashville yesterday, 18 hours late, with a large cargo of tobacco for Paducah. She left for Clarksville.

Supt. Young Taylor, of the docks, has been notified that he is released from the agreement he signed with caulkers to allow them to spin their own oakum. He signed up principally as an experiment, and it is said found that one plan was about as good as another, probably it was cheaper to have the caulkers spin their own oakum.

An Evansville dispatch says: Capt. Pierce Smith, aged 76, a well known Ohio river man, died here tonight of old age. He was known in Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville and St. Louis.

Child Dies.

Aline Loretta Clark, infant of Mr. W. F. Clark, of 909 Ohio street, died yesterday afternoon of summer complaint. The funeral will be held today, interment at Watson cemetery.

The Return of SHERLOCK HOLMES

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Author of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "The Hound of the Baskervilles," "The Sign of the Four," "A Study in Scarlet," Etc.

ILLUSTRATED BY E. D. STEELE

The Adventure of the Priory School

No. 5 of the Series

"I congratulate you."

"But we have a long way still to go. Kindly walk clear of the path. Now let us follow the trail. I fear that it will not lead very far."

We found, however, as we advanced that this portion of the moor is intersected with soft patches, and, though we frequently lost sight of the track, we always succeeded in picking it up once more.

"Do you observe," said Holmes, "that the rider is now undoubtedly forcing the pace? There can be no doubt of it. Look at this impression, where you get both tires clear. The one is as deep as the other. That can only mean that the rider is throwing his weight on to the handle bar, as a man does when he is sprinting. By Jove, he has had a fall!"

There was a broad, irregular smudge covering some yards of the track. Then there were a few footmarks, and the tire reappeared once more.

"A side slip," I suggested.

Holmes held up a grumpled branch of flowering gorse. To my horror I perceived that the yellow blossoms were all dabbled with crimson. On the path, too, and among the heather were dark stains of clotted blood.

"Bad!" said Holmes. "Bad! Stand clear, Watson! Not an unnecessary footstep! What do I read here? He fell wounded—he stood up—he remounted—he proceeded. But there is no other track. Cattle on this side path. He was surely not gored by a bull? Impossible! But I see no traces of any one else. We must push on, Watson. Surely, with stunts as well as the track to guide, he cannot escape us now."

Our search was not a very long one. The tracks of the tire began to curve fantastically upon the wet and shining path. Suddenly, as I looked ahead, the gleam of metal caught my eye from amid the thick gorse bushes. Out of them we dragged a bicycle, the Palmer tire, one pedal bent and the whole front of it horribly smeared and slobbered with blood. On the other side of the bushes a shoe was projecting. We ran round and there lay the unfortunate rider. He was a tall man, full bearded, with spectacles, one glass of which had been knocked out. The cause of his death was a frightful blow upon the head, which had crushed in part of his skull. That he could have gone on after receiving such an injury said much for the vitality and courage of the man. He wore shoes, but no socks, and his open coat disclosed a nightshirt beneath it. It was undoubtedly the German master.

Holmes turned the body over reverently and examined it with great attention. He then sat in deep thought for a time, and I could see by his ruffled brow that this grim discovery had not, in his opinion, advanced us much in our inquiry.

"It is a little difficult to know what to do, Watson," said he at last. "My own inclinations are to push this inquiry on, for we have already lost so much time that we cannot afford to waste another hour. On the other hand, we are bound to inform the police of the discovery and to see that this poor fellow's body is looked after."

"I could take a note back."

"But I need your company and assistance. Wait a bit! There is a fellow cutting peat up yonder. Bring him over here, and he will guide the police."

I brought the peasant across, and Holmes dispatched the frightened man with a note to Dr. Huxtable.

"Now, Watson," said he, "we have picked up two clues this morning. One is the bicycle with the Palmer tire, and we see what that has led to. The other is the bicycle with the patched Dunlop. Before we start to investigate that let us try to realize what we do know, so as to make the most of it and to separate the essential from the accidental."

"First of all, I wish to impress upon you that the boy certainly left of his own free will. He got down from his window, and he went off either alone or with some one. That is sure."

I assented.

"Well, now, let us turn to this unfortunate German master. The boy was fully dressed when he fled. Therefore he foresaw what he would do. But the German went without his socks. He certainly acted on very short notice."

"Undoubtedly."

"Why did he go? Because from his bedroom window he saw the flight of the boy; because he wished to overtake him and bring him back. He seized his bicycle, pursued the lad and in pursuing him met his death."

"So it would seem."

"Now I come to the critical part of my argument. The natural action of a man in pursuing a little boy would be to run after him. He would know that he could overtake him. But the German does not do so. He turns to his bicycle. I am told that he was an excellent cyclist. He would not do this if he did not see that the boy had some swift means of escape."

"The other bicycle."

"Let us continue our reconstruction. He meets his death five miles from the school—not by a bullet, mark you, which even a lad might conceivably discharge, but by a savage blow dealt by a vigorous arm. The lad, then, had a companion in his flight. And the flight was a swift one, since it took five miles before an expert cyclist could overtake them. Yet we survey the ground round the scene of the tragedy. What do we find? A few cattle tracks, nothing more. I took a wide sweep round, and there is no path within fifty yards. Another cyclist could have had nothing to do with the actual murder, nor were there any human footmarks."

"Holmes," I cried, "this is impossible!"

"Admirable!" he said. "A most illuminating remark. It is impossible as I state it, and therefore I must in some respect have stated it wrong. Yet you saw for yourself. Can you suggest any fallacy?"

"He could not have fractured his skull in a fall?"

"In a morass, Watson?"

"I am at my wit's end."

"Tut, tut! We have solved some worse problems. At least we have plenty of material, if we can only use it. Come, then, and having exhausted the Palmer, let us see what the Dunlop with the patched cover has to offer us."

We picked up the track and followed it onward for some distance, but soon the moor rose into a long, heather tufted curve, and we left the water course behind us. No further help from tracks could be hoped for. At the spot where we saw the last of the Dunlop tire it might equally have led to Hilderensse Hall, the stately towers of which rose some miles to our left, or to a low gray village which lay in front of us and marked the position of the Chesterfield highroad.

As we approached the forbidding and squalid inn with the sign of a gamecock above the door Holmes gave a sudden groan and clutched me by the shoulder to save himself from falling. He had had one of those violent spasms of the ankle which leave a man helpless. With difficulty he limped up to the door, where a squat, dark elderly man was smoking a black clay pipe.

"How are you, Mr. Reuben Hayes?" said Holmes.

"Who are you, and how do you get my name so pat?" the countryman answered, with a suspicious flash of a pair of cunning eyes.

"Well, it's printed on the board above your head. It's easy to see a man who is master of his own house. I suppose you haven't such a thing as a carriage in your stables?"

"No, I have not."

"I can hardly put my foot to the ground."

"Don't put it to the ground."

"But I can't walk."

"Well, then, hop."

Mr. Reuben Hayes' manner was far from gracious, but Holmes took it with admirable good humor.

"Look here, my man," said he. "This is really rather an awkward fix for me. I don't mind how I get on."

"Neither do I," said the morose landlord.

"The matter is very important. I would offer you a sovereign for the use of a bicycle."

The landlord picked up his ears.

"Where do you want to go?"

"To Hilderensse Hall."

"Pals of the dook, I suppose?" said the landlord, surveying our mud stained

A Wife's Health

How many homes contain wives with broken health, feeble constitutions, shattered nerves, physical wrecks of their former selves, and how bitter the disappointment to both husband and wife to experience such a state of affairs instead of enjoying the happiness and sunshine of the ideal home. The cause of this gloomy contrast is usually traced to those distressing troubles and complaints known as female diseases, those peculiar weaknesses in the organs of generation so common to women.

MAGNOLIA BLOSSOM

Women's Favorite Remedy. Strengthens these delicate organs and gives women perfect health, and if given a fair trial it insures freedom from leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, painful periods and all other weaknesses peculiar to women. garments with ironical eyes.

Holmes laughed good naturedly.

"He'll be glad to see us anyhow."

"Why?"

"Because we bring him news of his lost son."

The landlord gave a very visible start.

"What, you're on his track?"

"He has been heard of in Liverpool. They expect to get him every hour."

Again a swift change passed over the heavy, unshaven face. His manner was suddenly genial.

"I've less reason to wish the duck well than most men," said he. "For I was his head coachman once, and I've had to treat him. It was him that sacked me without a character on the word of a lying corn chandler. But I'm glad to hear that the young lord was heard of in Liverpool, and I'll help you take the news to the hall."

"Thank you," said Holmes. "We'll have some food first. Then you can bring round the bicycle."

"I haven't got a bicycle."

Holmes held up a sovereign.

"I tell you, man, that I haven't got one. I'll let you have two horses as far as the hall."

"Well, well," said Holmes. "we'll talk about it when we've had something to eat."

When we were left alone in the stone flagged kitchen it was astonishing how rapidly that sprained ankle recovered. It was nearly nightfall, and we had eaten nothing since early morning, so that we spent some time over our meal. Holmes was lost in thought, and once or twice he walked over to the window and stared earnestly out. It opened on to a squalid courtyard. In the far corner was a smithy, where a grimy lad was at work. On the other side were the stables. Holmes had sat down again after one of these excursions, when he suddenly sprang out of his chair with a loud exclamation.

"By heaven, Watson, I believe that I've got it!" he cried. "Yes, yes, it must be so! Watson, do you remember seeing any cow tracks today?"

"Yes, several."

"Where?"

"Well, everywhere. They were at the moor and again near where poor Heidegger met his death."

"Exactly. Well, now, Watson, how many cows did you see on the moor?"

"I don't remember seeing any."

JOHN D. AFRAID

SAID TO HAVE A STRONG BODY GUARD ABOUT HIM.

Never Before Such Vigilance Exercised in His Behalf.

Cleveland, O., July 18.—It is said that John D. Rockefeller's fears for his personal safety again have become paramount. The bodyguard at Forest Hill is said to have been increased and to have received renewed exhortation to vigilance. Predictions are added that Rockefeller will forego his frequent appearance in public until the agitation against him shall have died away.

It is pointed out that he is much more sensitive to appearance than is commonly supposed, and so even if unafraid for his life he would hesitate before appearing at his church or elsewhere while the revived scandal is a present sensation.

Now his residence on Forest Hill is well nigh unapproachable. Even his private secretary cannot be seen. The utmost vigilance is being maintained by the attendants at the Forest Hill residence, and every intruder, no matter what might be his errand, is closely questioned and practically ordered off the premises after a brief hearing. Never before was such vigilance the rule.

CUT HER THROAT.

Negro Woman at Mayfield, Ky., Attempted Suicide.

Mayfield, Ky., July 18.—Jane Covington, colored, aged about 45 years, attempted suicide by cutting her throat with a razor. She made two slashes and would have been successful in her attempt had it not been for the interference of her husband, Sol Covington. She was standing up in the room and picked up the razor and was cutting fast when her husband shoved her down, causing the razor to fall from her hand.

It is thought she will recover as the jugular vein was not severed. The woman is a very large woman, weighing 225 pounds. The cause of the rash act is thought to be from worry over the recent death of her 19-year-old son, Gollas Covington. She had said that she did not want to live since the boy died. When she held the razor in her hand she begged her husband to go away from her and not prevent her from ending her life.

Indigestion.

With its companions, heartburn, flatulence, torpidity of the liver, constipation, palpitation of the heart, poor blood, headache and other nervous symptoms, sallow skin, foul tongue, offensive breath and a legion of other ailments, is at once the most widespread and destructive malady among the American people. The Herbine treatment will cure all these troubles. 50c bottle.

THIEVES ENTERED SEVERAL HOUSES

Novices Go Through a Number of Residences on South Side.

Secured Only a Little Change and Small Articles of Minor Value in the Raid.

THE THIEVES LEFT NO CLUE

Burglars worked on the whole-sale plan last night in the neighborhood of Willie and Elizabeth streets, and McKinley avenue, on the South Side, but secured but little cash, and no valuables so far as known.

Four houses were entered and an attempt was made to enter several others. No one saw the thieves and there is no clue to their identity, but the police think it was the work of boys.

The residence of Mr. F. E. Rudolph on Elizabeth street, was entered through the rear and a plug of tobacco and a little small change taken from his trousers which were carried out of the house and thrown away several blocks from the residence.

The home of Mrs. Maggie McElhane, a short distance away on Elizabeth street was also entered. The thieves got ten cents in change but ransacked everything in the house.

The residence of Mr. Joe Farris on McKinley avenue was entered and 75 cents in money taken. This was all the thieves were successful in getting.

The residence of Mr. C. Baker, on McKinley avenue was entered from the rear and $1.25 secured, this being the biggest haul of the four.

Attempts were made to enter the residences of Mrs. Bolden and Mrs. Twitchell, on Willie street, but something evidently happened to frighten the thieves away. The gates were left open by them in their flight.

It is thought the work was done in haste and while confederates kept watch for the police who are exceptionally vigilant on that beat.

BETRAYED GIRL.

According to the Charge Lodged Against Curtis Dublin.

Curtis Dublin, a young man about 25 years of age, employed in the Buchanan restaurant on Lower Kentucky avenue near Third street, was arrested this afternoon by Detectives Moore and Baker on a warrant charging betrayal.

The warrant was sworn out by Mrs. Martha A. Augustus, of the South Side, who alleges that the young man is guilty of betraying her daughter Nellie H. Augustus, under promise of marriage.

He was arrested shortly after the warrant was issued, brought to the hall and being unable to execute bond, was placed in jail. He will in all probability be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

FUNSTON DENIED

That He Used Inflammatory Language About Dynamiting Saloon.

Iola, Kan., July 18.—The trial of former Congressman E. H. Funston, charged with inflammatory utterances and carrying concealed weapons as the result of dynamiting of three saloons here last week, ended last night and Judge Adair announced that he would reserve his decision until next Wednesday. Funston, testifying in his own behalf, denied that he used inflammatory language.

Cleary, had called with two of their four children to see her.

SAVED DIAMONDS.

Paducah Detective Saw Man Find Valuable Gems at Evansville.

Detective Will Baker, of the Paducah force and Traveling Engineer B. J. Feeney, of the Louisville division of the I. C., made a very lucky discovery in Evansville and saved a young lady a diamond cross valued at $125.

Both gentlemen had gone to Evansville on an excursion and were together on the streets Monday morning. There was a white couple walking ahead of the Paducah gentleman and between the two couples came a negro couple.

The colored man stooped down and picked up something from the pavement. As he brought it up Engineer Feeney saw it sparkle and immediately suspected he had found a diamond.

He informed Detective Baker and the two stopped the couple and demanded the article, whatever it was. The negro refused to give it up until Detective Baker flashed his badge and the negro then produced a diamond cross with five pretty large stones in it.

The jewel proved to belong to the young lady just ahead, it having fallen from a chain she wore about her neck.

DULL BUSINESS

Causes Geo. W. Kirkland, of Fulton, to File Petition in Bankruptcy.

Mr. George W. Kirkland, a prominent carriage dealer of Fulton, Ky., through his attorney, E. N. Smith, of Fulton, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States court here and has suspended business pending the appointment of a trustee.

He gives a long list of liabilities, most of them being carriage debts and debts contracted while in business, totaling $7,000. No Paducah firm is listed among the creditors.

The assets of the bankrupt are listed at about $6,000, being his stock, etc.

Last night when the day's business was concluded, the store was closed to remain so until a trustee is appointed and takes charge. Dull business and bad collections are given as the reason for the conditions.

RYAN TO SELL STOCK

Back to Equitable and Thoroughly Mutualize the Concern.

New York, July 18.—From a circular of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, it was learned today that Thomas F. Ryan, who recently purchased the stock holdings of James H. Hyde, has made an agreement with the trustees of the Ryan holdings and newly elected directors to sell the stock he purchased back to the Equitable society.

This, it is said, will be as soon as possible, and Ryan has agreed to turn it in to the society, thus thoroughly mutualizing it, for the same sum he paid for it, $25,000,000, plus four per cent. interest, between dates of his purchase and the sale.

DRUNKEN OPERATOR.

Almost Caused a Passenger Train to Be Wrecked.

Cleveland, O., July 18.—Scores of passengers on the east bound flyer escaped death by a narrow margin today in this city. A drunken operator, it is alleged, left a signal down at the crossing, exposing the passenger train to a collision with a freight. The operator was arrested for intoxication and sent to jail.

to believe. The interior situation is very serious, I do not deny, but in Europe and America the true significance of what is happening is not understood. Correspondents come here and talk with a few hundred people in St. Petersburg and Moscow, misinterpret what is happening and fill the world with false impressions as to Russia's future.

"Russia has little resemblance to Western countries. To know Russia, to understand the soul of the Russian people, it is necessary that one should have been born here or lived many years in Russia. The customs, history and mental psychology of the people are entirely different from those of Western nations, and Russia cannot be judged by Western standards. It is such an immense country, composed of diverse elements and interests, yet the Russian people are like a great family. At present they are torn by internal dissensions, but these divisions would disappear should the people really feel that the integrity of the country and its future destiny were at stake.

"Russia is not on the verge of dissolution as a great power and is not obliged to accept any conditions offered, in spite of the military reverses she has sustained.

"We are passing through an internal crisis which has been marked by many grave events and which may have others still in store, but the crisis will pass and in a few years Russia will again take her place as a preponderant power in the European concert."

DAMAGE SUIT.

Won by the Ayer & Lord Tie Company at Erin, Tenn.

Attorney C. C. Grassham, the well known Ayer & Lord Tie Co., representative, returned this morning from Erin, Houston county, Tenn., where he won a $10,000 damage suit for his client.

The style of the suit was J. G. Williams, of Shaw, Miss., formerly of Erin, Tenn., and he sued for the above amount alleging that the defendant, the Ayer & Lord Tie Co., had damaged his financial standing.

A Shaw, Miss., bank, shortly after Williams' removal to that city, telegraphed the tie company asking about Williams' standing and the defendant reported unfavorable. The cashier in the bank refused to do business with Williams and showed him the telegram. He then went to Erin and brought suit. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant at the trial this week.
